HOY HONO, TUESDAY, JULY 25, 1893.

THE special telegram from Bangkok which we published yesterday evening and which is supported by the telegram received through Renter's agency. which appears in this evening's issueshows that the Franco-Siamese quartel has reached a very scute stage. Our correspondent wires that war is expeoted to be declared soon. War has often been declared between nations for much less cause than that which exists in the case of France and Slaw. yet we can hardly think it likely that the Mekong question will be pushed to the extreme. The Paknam incident was serious enough, no doubt, but if it was merely the result of a misunderstanding -as it seems to have beenit does not afford sufficient grounds for an appeal to the stern arbitrament of war. Whatever foundation may exist for the French claim to the control of the Mekong (for that is practically what the claim amounts to) there cannot be the slightest doubt that France, throughout the whole dispute. has played the part of the bully. The official correspondence which we reproduced from the Banghok Times vesterday shows as clearly as possible that the French gunboats were entirely wrong in forcing their way up the Menam, and assuming that the accounts of the incident which have come to hand correctly represent the circumstances under which it occurred, it is difficult to see any adequate reason for the large compensation claim which France has put in. The fact seems to be, however, that France has claimed un indemnity of three million francs besides the acknowledgment of certain important territorial rights which had not before been recognised. Siam's reply to the French ultimatum has not been considered satisfactory, and hence the prospect of hostilities. The Paknam incident may have been merely the result of a conflict of authority beween the French Minister at Bangkok and Admiral Humann: The commanders of the gunboats had their orders from the Admiraland they probably thought that these could not be affected by any instructions from the Minister Resident at Bangkok. We do not know whether Admiral Humann would have changed his mind as to proceeding up the Menam had he known all the circumstances, but it is probable that the action of the commanders of the gunboats met with his approval. At all events, he took the trouble to flatly contradict a Reuter's telegram which stated that the commanders of the gunboats had acted contrary to orders. We infer that this contradiction meant that nothing had been done contrary to his orders, although it is very evident from the official dispatches which passed between Prince Devawongse and M. Puvie that instructions regarding the movements of the gunbouts were entirely ignored. The incident is carand we are well able to compate in tainly not one which adds to the quality with the best English credit or glory of France. What may come of it, it is difficult to say, but we think it very unlikely that war will be the result. One important reason in support of that opinion is the fact that France knows that the independence of Siam is a matter in which towards H. B. M. Minister (Lord. Dufferin), appears to have come to an unendurable point on the 13th of this month. Reuter informed us, in a somewhat inconsequent manner, that Lord Dufferin was absent from his post in Paris on the date named, owing to personal attacks made on him by the Paris press. It is an unusual proceeding. for an Ambassador to leave his postin order to mark his disappreval of newspaper attacks : and when it is borne in mind that a British Minister could not have undertaken such a step without remonstrating strongly with the Government to which he was accredited, the action of Lord Dufferin seems to be all the more serious. Furthermore, when it is considered that the British Ambassador to Paris stands so high in the diplomatic service, and maintains a reputation for ability and high-minded integrity second to no servant of the British Crown, the incident assumes an importance which it might not other-The following is a List of Waters always wise possess. It is true that eight days afterwards (21st July) Reuter informs us that the Government had decided that Lord Dufferin returns to Paris forthwith, to exchange views amicably." Of what transpired during the eight days which elapsed from the 13th to the 21st, nothing is of course known. The views which were to be exchanged amicably are not given. Whether or not the extreme Angiophobists in Paris are beyond the power of the Government to check, or whether the authorities there merely declined to check the rabid attacks upon Great BASPBEREYADE Britain's Ambassador; are questions on which we must wait for enlightenment One thing is certain.
